Planners name Baxter prexy

Ray Baxter of Pearl River is elected chairman of the county planning commission Tuesday night when the group approved a contract with Malchow Engineers for a rural water study of the county.

All officers will be confirmed when the commission meets April 8 and sets up its charter and by-laws.

Others chosen at Tuesday's meeting, second of the group's series created by the board of supervisors, were James Baxter, Beat 2 member, vice chairman; David L. Johnson, Beat 5, secretary, and Billy Harvey, Beat 4, treasurer.

Study of the rural water and sewerage has been urged for some time by Mayor Stone of the town of Homochitto.

The previous board of supervisors about a year ago authorized a water study of the rural areas by the county and Association. A planning commission spokesman said yesterday the committee was not considered for the program on Stone's recommendation. Several local engineering firms were interviewed for the assignment. The Malchow firm was chosen by the supervisors earlier this month as county engineer.

Others at Tuesday's session were Emmott Niolet, commission member from Beat 3; Supervisors Russell J. Elliott and Joseph Cuevas; Stone and a representative of the Malchow firm.

The commission expects to select an attorney at its April 8 meeting. Meanwhile the legal resolutions involved in its creation are being prepared by Michael Haas and are to be ready late this week for study by the planners prior to adoption.

OLG orators win 1st, 2nd in state trial

Our Lady of the Gulf's two orators finished one-two in the Mississippi Catholic Youth Organization oratorical contest in Jackson Sunday.

Stanford Ladner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius J. Ladner, placed first among the boys and now goes to Washington, D.C., for the national competition. Sherry Michaelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E.A. Michaelson, was runner-up in the girls' division.

Each contestant presented prepared talks on Pope Paul's encyclical on the year of faith and what it means to him as a teenager. Extemporaneous talks then were given (Cont. on Page 8-A.)

Funds tight

Emergency only is seawall rule

All work on the seawall except for emergency repairs was halted by the board of supervisors March 20 in an effort to get their funds back in order. Russell J. Elliott, board president, disclosed this week.

He said his Beat 5 road and maintenance fund and Supervisor Dolph Kellar's Beat 2 fund would lend the seawall account some money until additional tax revenue arrives.

Including an overdraft at the bank, the seawall is about $90,000 short, he reported. Elliott and C.A. Russ, III of Beat 1, vice president of the board, estimate it's going to take 10 to 12 months' income, plus greatly curtailed spending, to get things in a fluid shape.

Right now the seawall account owes the road protection bond fund $61,220.96. That figure is based on a recapitulation of unpaid loans between funds as of March 23, 1968, compiled by Warren Carver, county auditor. His study showed $121,780.98 in unpaid loans, all told, and several supervisors conferred informally with him Tuesday to go over the whole financial picture.

These are the unpaid loans as the auditor lists them: Oct. 6, 1965, Beat 2 road and bridge maintenance to Beat 3 R&B, $5,000; Feb. 1, 1966, regional planning to Mississippi-Louisiana Regional Planning Commission, $1,200; Dec. 16, 1966, seawall to hospital building fund No. 2, $3,500; July 3, 1967, road and bridge bond fund, Beat 4, to R&B maintenance, Beat 4, $10,500; Sept. 15, 1967, advertising fund to MTO patrol fund, $6,000; Sept. 21, Beat 2 R&B note to seawall, $8,000; Oct. 17, road protection bond fund to health and sick, $2,000; Oct. 27, road protection bond fund to seawall, $24,220.96; Oct. 31, road protection bond fund to mosquito control, $8,360; Nov. 8, Beat 2 R&B to Beat 1 R&B, $15,000; Nov. 8, road protection bond fund to seawall, $7,000; Dec. 29, same fund to seawall, $30,000; and Jan. 26, Beat 2 R&B to health and sick, $1,000.

Russ said the supervisors have agreed to try to hold seawall labor to between $6,000 to $8,000 a month in an effort to repay some of the loans to this account. In the case of Beat 1 workers on the seawall crew, Russ said he expects to reschedule the men to work through his beat funds on a limited number of days.

Elliott indicated most seawall work for the time being will be handled by Beat 5 crews. He commented that it appeared only Beat 2 and 5 road and bridge funds were in good shape—his predecessor, R.G. Hubbard, Jr., having left ample money in the till whereas Kellar was re-elected in Beat 2 and had no problems with trying to determine what old accounts it might owe.

Elliott and Russ went to Mobile on Wednesday to confer with Henry Lee at the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' office on plans for development of Bayou Caddy.

They planned to continue to Jackson to talk with Yates & Patterson, Inc., contractors on the new airport, on some type of groundbreaking ceremony there. They will also see Frank Moore and B.F. Broome of the State Highway Department on construction plans for the Lake-shore and beachfront roads.

Bay St. Louis is bouncing back in the building business with $187,274 worth of building permits issued so far in the first quarter of 1968, Building Inspector Harry Benjamin reported Wednesday.

Nine new homes account for $105,300 of the total and many are in the recently annexed area, Benjamin said. Only big permit was the $56,000 one for Humble Oil Co.'s service station at U.S. 90 and Washington Road.

In all of 1967, the value of building permits was $509,924-$248,390 of which was for commercial work and $261,334 in residential construction and alterations.

Here's the home building list since Jan. 1:

Glen Salters, three residents in Spanish Acres; Thomas E. Jonnevis, Kellar and B. Streets; L.J. Weinberg, Graham Heights; William A. Terry, Bismark Street; Willard Ladner, Graham sub-division; Gerald K. Favre, Victoria Street; Gerald Tomasich, St. Charles.

Other residential construction includes permits to John Broeden, garage, Bay Oaks Drive; Frank Taconi, carport, 415 1/2 St. John; James H. Berchett, raise house on piling, 1400 N. Beach; Howard Adams, carport, 309 N. Second St.; Mrs. S. Lemarie, swimming pool, 232 Felicity; Ruth Cazeneuve, addition, 328 Main St.; A. C. Mercler, repair fire damage, 115 Bay Oaks Dr.

In addition to the new Humble station, business type construction included: E. J. Cheator, North Beach; Hancock Marina, storage and work shop, U.S. 90; Dr. J.L. Griffin, alterations, 125 Carroll Ave.; Joe Locacano, repair front, 211-17 Necaise Ave.; and K.E. Hooser, erect shelter and two additions on Dunbar Avenue.

City sales tax take at new high

Bay St. Louis' business was the best ever in January if the sales tax take is any criterion. The city's rebate from the State Tax Commission which arrived last week was for $13,206.73. That's after the state took out its $675.09 fee for collections.

Previous high figure was $13,216.88 last November which was based on September sales volume.

The February check, based on December business, was for $12,774.32 while in March, 1967, before the city's annexation, it was for $9,426.49.

From each month's check, $2,500 is allocated to fire hydrant rental under the bond indenture for the city's water and sewer system. The rest goes into the general fund to meet budgeted obligations.

Homestead deadline near, 500 yet to go

With the April 1 deadline for filing for homestead exemption falling close by, there are still approximately 500 applicants who previously filed who have failed to do so for the coming year. Tax Assessor George Heltmann said this week.

Action in the last few days has been brisk and he is urging all eligible property owners to file before the deadline.

Those filing for the first time are required to bring their warranty deeds and all must show their vehicle license numbers, the assessor added.

Wo're Growing

Atkins' Used Cars has opened on U.S. 90 opposite Gulf National Bank with Howard Smith as local manager. This is the third location for the Hattiesburg-based firm.

Queen of Spring Fiesta

Jewel Mae Tiemann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Tiemann who have a country home in Clermont Harbor, has been chosen queen of the New Orleans Spring Fiesta. A 1967 St. Joseph Academy graduate and now a freshman at St. Mary's Dominican College, New Orleans, she is well known here for her roles in Bay St. Louis Little Theater. Miss Tiemann will be crowned at 7 p.m., April 19 in Jackson Square, New Orleans.

Paved streets still advisory group's topic

We still need paved streets in Bay St. Louis—how do we get them now?

That's the topic for the citizens' advisory committee's first formal post mortem on the $975,000 bond issue referendum defeat called for 7:30 p.m. Monday at Webb Community Center.

In his notice to committee members, Joseph Marochino, chairman, noted that some people have recommended a lesser bond issue election to pave all streets on a temporary basis. Others favor a straight front-foot assessment.

"If you have a better plan, bring it with you. If you know someone who has a better plan bring them with you," Marochino urged.

A report also is to be made on recent meetings with groups which opposed the two previous $975,000 bond issue plans.

Marochino said the last session was at noon March 14 when Dr. A.K. Martinolich, Jr., was spokesman for the opposition and announced they would proceed with plans to sue the city administration for failing to call an election on the council-manager form of government petition. According to Marochino, he told the advisory members present that his group would wait to see what proposals the administration and advisory committee came up with now before deciding if they would support it.

From Cape Kennedy

MTF tested S-II to fire April 3

The second Saturn V/Apollo moon shot rocket-opens this combination, utilizing components tested at Mississippi Test Facility will be fired on April 3 from Cape Kennedy, Fla. Docked on Apollo 9, the test will have the S-II-2, second stage booster component static fired at MTF, as part of the Saturn V propelling rocket.

The Apollo corio, the three men into space and mesa that corio, to utilizing two different propelling rockets. One is an upgraded Saturn I and the other the Saturn V. The first three employed the Saturn I; number four, the first Saturn V; number five, the upgraded Saturn I; and number six will again use the Saturn V rocket.

In the previous corio, Comand and Mercury, a similar mix of boost rockets was employed. The Mercury corio, one man into space, used Redstone and Atlas rockets. The Comand, two men into space, employed Titan rockets.

In the April 3 shot the first stage, S-1C, now being tested at MTF, was tested at Huntsville. The first one of this stage booster to be tested here was the S-1C-4.

At the site itself three rocket components are still in various stages of acceptance testing. The S-II-3 is being loaded for firing next month as is the S-1C-6, also on the test stands. The S-II-4 was acceptance test fired on Feb. 10 and has now completed the ergonomic proof test.

The stage was put through the procedure test by employees of North American Rockwell Corp., manufacturer of the stage for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. The purpose of the test was to certify the integrity of the stage's liquid hydrogen tank. (Cont. on Page 8-A.)

Teen Times

As the big day when seniors are to receive the diploma for which they've worked so hard, for a dozen years draws near, graduates-to-be are beginning to enjoy fruits of their status. Twelfth graders enjoy the privilege of entering the lunchroom five minutes before other students, and may walk through the administration building instead of taking the long way around. Full of the long weeks of school when most of their time will be spent studying for graduation ceremony and the like. There will be no official prom this year, but the grapevine has it that a group of parents are getting together to plan a big party which will be an instead of a prom party.

Speaking of dancing, The Echo of the Slain gave out with a lively sound at the big Waveland CYO dance Saturday night, Clare's parish hall. Upcoming this Saturday, Mar. 30, is the big all day program to be held in St. Joseph Academy Memorial Hall. A workshop under supervision of ten Loyola University students will begin at 10:30 a.m., followed by a youth mass and wind up dance ending at 10:30 p.m.

Two frequent visitors to the Bay are Steven Gorenflo and Joseph in Gulfport. The pair was honored with presentation of plaques by a delegation from the Seabee station recently in appreciation for their efforts in helping two young members of the group who were involved in an automobile accident on U.S. 90 several weeks ago. Happy birthday greetings go to Dianne Bourgeois who cut her 14th cake on Mar. 18, to Dave Pindexter, who was on Mar. 16, and to Jay Rutledge who celebrated on Mar. 22. Debbie McCullough is also due belated greetings having become sweet 16 on St. Patrick's Day.

Lucien Bourgeois, now in his junior year at Ole Miss, spent last weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Bourgeois. Michael Ryan is the newly appointed official baseball reporter for St. Stanislaus. Now let's see what our Darome has gathered

JULIAN GENELLA STANDS AMID ART DISPLAY

In the way of news is Mike's new sports car responsible for Patty's recent air of jubilation? They seemed to be having lots of fun at the dance at St. John's last Saturday night.

Mary Jane and Paul, Mary Jo and Gerry, and Vicki and Mike took in the amusement park in Biloxi a couple of weeks ago.

Is it just a coincidence that S.F. and F.G. had the same ailment at exactly the same time? Laurie is one of our new bike riding enthusiasts. And Chris' new hobbies are guitar playing and painting.

E.K. is as E.P. acts! And where did 'Cam K.' get the new look? Roberta and her friends appeared to be having a great time Sunday.

Who was Roy's companion on the beach last Saturday? Linda and Harry seemed to enjoy the show on Friday night. Beach Buggies are now in 'super-sun-time' style. Super Frog's big green eyes really shone after she heard about her Saturday baby sitting job.

David S. seems to have an interest in Biloxi, but does he know that Ricky and Butch have been crossing the bridge also? Who is Donaway's latest heart interest? Did Mert and his friends ever get to Bayou Caddy? Mol was having a smooth weekend until she lost her pen. Debbie and Earl are another steady twosome and Darome Larome and Flower Child continue seeing only hearts and flowers.

What was Cathy's reaction to a recent phone call? Did Imane ever get a sun tan?

Latest addition to Teen Times is F.M., otherwise known as Super Towel Man. He pops up at the most unexpected times, usually followed by his faithful crew.

How was Iovonne's weekend? And what has 'No No' been up to of late? Someone wants to extend a very special thank you to Bill. Sav Waah Fare and Gilbert send greetings to all.

Who is planning to do a psychodelic paint job on her bedroom? Will Snoopy find out the latest news, or will she have to wait for the sad tidings? Sue and Mike seem to have a good thing going.

Scott Hereford is another who cut his birthday cake this week. His and F.F.'s were both on Monday, Mar. 25. And did Peanut have a happy birthday on the following day, Tuesday, Mar. 26? Certainly hope so. Why was Rita tossing pencils to Bryan? What's between L.L. and C.M.?

Has J.M. finally learned the Bougaloo? St. Joseph Academy graduate Pat Green, daughter of Mrs. Lacy Green of Bay St.

Eastern Star initiates trio

Mmes. Erling Hansen, Jr., R.E. Adams and P.J. Gaudin were initiated last Thursday into Bay Chapter 129, Order of Eastern Star, in ceremonies at the Masonic Temple.

Louis, now attending Atlanta Institute of Fashion, will spend three months in Europe this summer taking courses in advanced design, fabrics and the like.

In reply to someone's question of last week, are Debbie and Jerry more than just good friends. This now steady twosome wishes some people would worry about their own business and let the course of true love prevail.

Supervisors fix port chief's wage

Salary of newly-appointed port director Charles Hill was set at $1,100 monthly, plus expenses approved by the Port and Harbor Commission and supported by vouchers, when supervisors approved a resolution of the commission requesting that figure.

Basic salary for newly-appointed county engineer H. Clark Malchow, of the Gulfport firm of Malchow Engineers, was set at $250 monthly when supervisors approved a contract setting out his duties in four sections: 1, projects developed into construction; 2, special projects; 3, consultation services; and 4, detailed surveys and resident inspection.

Malchow was appointed at the March 4 meeting over the objections of president Russell J. Elliott of Beat 5, and J.C. Mauffray of Beat 4 who indicated their preference for the Ralph M. Parsons firm which recently established offices on Kiln Road. George Wier of Jackson has been county engineer for several years.

Hill's salary was apparently a compromise, the original request at a previous meeting being for $15,000 plus expenses. At the board's last meeting the figure was set at $1,250 monthly plus expenses on which no action was taken.

Art in any form is welcome at gallery

The door is always open at 109 N. Beach and passers-by may stop to admire paintings, watercolors, sculpture, photographs, listen to a bit of music or just stop in for a chat with the proprietor of the Bay Art Gallery, Julian Genella.

Genella, a rather tall man with a shock of thick white hair in sharp contrast to his dark eyes and an unbuttoned manner of speech, stood warming chilled hands over a small kerosene heater, as he told of his purpose in opening the gallery.

He foresees the Mississippi Gulf Coast as a perfect haven for artists of every type, the scenery is superb, and the weather is kinder than that in the Atlantic edge of New England, where he has the perfect brush and paint business. By establishing a center where everyone has a chance to display their work, he hopes to stimulate the art scene of the area.

of art. Pictures predominate in the showing of talents of 20 local men, women and even a couple of teenagers, now on view in the building, but there are also examples of beautifully done embroidery, ceramics, a paper mache croche, metal work and sculpture.

The enterprise, which he began in Clermont Harbor under the name Pine Tree Gallery of Art about six weeks ago, then moved to the Bay to become more accessible to contributors and patrons, is proving remarkably successful when in the bud, so to speak. Lella Ann and Carl Baidenoff, Diane Brian, Wiley Churchill, Jean Delaney, Helene Donzi, Joan Hubose, Ray, Hugh Flinn, Carl Gustafson, B. Glad and Edna and John Isom's are among works to be seen. Also those of Nancy and Don Kern, Emerson E. Mangum, Dale Rayburn, Verah Reaves, Dean Sodman, L. Thomas, Jean Van Esck, Maybelle Van Trier, Helen Vinot, Velma Wright, Gail St. Amant, Cecil Brown and two Drydales.

Although Julian says his earliest recollections are of sketching first trees and flowers with crayons, and later college of New Orleans more elaborately designed cathedrals, he painted several other fields, and so for the first time, really concentrating upon painting and teaching art. However, he'll also teach music in the form of piano, organ, road and brass instruments, when the occasion arises.

Genella began playing professionally at the age of 10, and continued to use his musical talent off and on through the years. He is a member of ASCAP, having composed a number of tunes, one of which, though never on the hit parade, its title has become almost a household expression. The name, Out of this World.

When a student at Tulane, Genella decided upon a writing career as his chosen vocation and promptly became the university correspondent for the New Orleans States, where he later worked as a reporter, then wrote novels which weren't published and many features and articles which were. During World War II, he returned to the field in which he majored in college, engineering. This he continued until deciding to return to his birthplace.

His father, a doctor who practiced in New Orleans, owned a home either in Clermont Harbor or Waveland and Julian put in his appearance when the family was spending their vacation there. From that time on, he always considered Mississippi his first home.

He hopes in the future to acquire a larger building to house the rapidly growing number of arts and artists, but in the meantime welcomes the efforts of any and all, no matter how amateurish if they appear to his creator. A number of works have already been sold, and one never knows just what will appeal to Jane and John public these days.

'Youth' tells story in faculty clash

"You're only as old as you feel, but some of those senior high teachers must feel pretty old."

Caldwell and Wilmer Soymour failed to score although both were credited with new four points.

Coaches for game were Robert V. McGee, juniors, and Wilmer Soymour, playing coach, seniors.

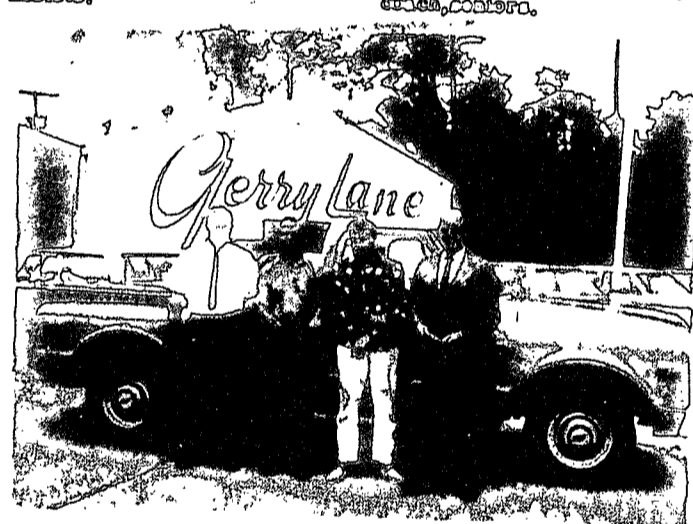

These were the sentiments of Bay Junior High School's basketball playing faculty last Thursday when they 'whipped' their senior grade school counterparts to the tune of 87-54.

Last year the 'juniors' went down to defeat, 52-48, with a two four point margin, but their revenge was sweet with the 13 big markers in between this year's tally and all in their favor.

Now, looking at the final scores, they are waiting for the ribbon game - next year.

Quarter counts were, junior high, 16, 14, 13, 24; senior high, 0, 17, 10, 19. Half time margin was narrowed to a few points difference between both squads led by the final buzzer, when senior folks were real tired, the story was told, according to the 'juniors'.

Pumping in the points for the seniors were Woodie Alliston 17, Cecil Powell 14, John Blanchette, 4, W.J. Cameron 8, Thomas Pitts 22, W.W. Clifton, 2, Thomas Waldrop led in assists. For the losing effort Tommy Smith made 12, Billy Sills 4, James Pair 9, Frank Ladner, 4, J.E. Loicane 8, Toy Todman 0, Billy Torry 0, Donald

NEW rules are a fact of life

Trustees of the Bay St. Louis Municipal School District are on notice that as things now stand in the segregation-integration picture, the system will lose federal financial support except the school lunchroom program.

The amount of money involved is not small. During the current year our school system will receive approximately $250,000 of which $129,000 is not subject to repeated each year.

All indications are our city school's trustees will sacrifice these funds rather than go any further toward racial integration of the schools. If the school board does this simple we feel confident the school board could be supported by the majority of our citizens.

But the choice is not this simple. Even if we do cut out the federal funds HEW can readily force, through federal courts, complete integration. It can do this and has done it elsewhere. We commend our school board for its successful delaying action. We think the federal law is in the interest of the people; whether white or black. We would like to see an unconstitutional court decision overturned.

Also, think of school board must face up to the fact that with or without federal funds it is up to the school board to integrate. In fact, including teachers will be forced on us.

Well chicken out again

Some weeks ago the International Olympic Committee voted to permit South Africa to send a team to the summer Olympics in Mexico. This action has raised a ruckus.

Thirty-two African countries, most of whom would not have been anywhere, have pulled out of the Olympics. The Soviet Union, Sweden, Switzerland and Burkina Faso have indicated they might withdraw if the IOC does not reverse itself.

The IOC has called a special meeting to "re-examine" the issue and the Mexican officials are not planning an invitation to South Africa pending the IOC meeting.

Mr. Juan Antonio Samaranch, IOC president, contends the IOC has helped colored people in South Africa by getting agreements that a multi-racial team, picked by a multi-racial committee, traveling together and being together will go to Mexico.

But the U.S. will likely be drawn into the matter and there hangs our concern. International Olympic Committee is universally said to be a body of other countries. The United States has repeatedly violated this provision. Many of the African nations have been in the South African in the past and have been in the South African in the past and have been in the South African in the past.

A Conservative View

by James J. Kilpatrick

WASHINGTON - For the past several days, most of the political cameras have concentrated upon the choirboy face of Bobby Kennedy. He took to the campaign trail on Saturday like one of the apostles hitting the road, part dove, part serpent. In the resulting babble of conversation, no one had much to say of the week's most significant statistic.

Look at it closely. It comes hot from the pollsters' computers: For George Wallace of Alabama, 14 per cent.

To be sure, a whole lot can happen to that statistic between now and November. But the ominous thing—ominous to conservatives and to anti-Johnson liberals alike—is that the Wallace factor is not diminishing. It is growing like a turnip, underground, unnoticed. It seems to be unaffected by developments left or right. And Lyndon Johnson, surveying the fratricidal battlefield about him, must be struck by the beautiful irony of it all. Who will save him? Wallace will save him.

That's the way it looks right now. When Kennedy shot himself from the cannon, arms outstretched in brotherly love, the last faint hope of Democratic unity vanished in the smoke. The brotherly love was wasted on Eugene McCarthy. He took one look at purring Bobby and thought of Solomon's strange woman: "Remove thy way far from her," counseled the son of David, "and come not nigh the door of her house." Just strangers be filled with thy wealth and thy labors be in the house of a stranger." Vice Solomon might have been thinking of New Hampshire.

McCarthy has no enthusiasm for working with Kennedy "in one form or another." His rhetorical student cohorts, for the time being at least, are not about to embrace the kid-arrriving Caesar. They would rather fight than switch. If it were not for the Wallace factor, Republicans would be rubbing their hands in glee. There is nothing more pleasing to the Republican eye than the spectacle of Democrats holding each other up. Hit him, Conal Gough him, Bobby!

But walking in the dressing room, slipping rope, falling at the bag, in the Alabama walk-out, political observers will forget him at their peril. George Wallace may not be able to get his oboes on the ballot in every state, but he will hold a candle in most of them. Suggest, to be sure, that it is Nixon for the Republicans and Johnson for the Democrats and Johnson for the Democrats and Johnson for the Democrats.

This is reported to be his average strength in some states—and not necessarily the

From Jackson

By Sen. Martin Smith

Last week's news was concentrated upon the House as it debated and passed an income tax bill and a sales tax bill. Both of these measures are aimed at raising the additional $76 million needed to finance the Governor's education bill. The Governor's education bill, however, has now been sent to the Senate where they will undergo study by the Senate Finance Committee of which I am a member. Senator Ellis Bodron, chairman, announced last week that he would appoint sub-committees to make a thorough study of these tax measures. He also announced that he would appoint another sub-committee to study bills pertaining to equalization of property assessments. At that same meeting, I was elected to serve as secretary of the Finance Committee.

Whether the House-passed bills got out of this committee or whether other and different tax measures will come out is yet to be seen and will depend on the committee's study. Then, of course, such bills will face debate on the floor of the Senate.

As you will recall, the Senate passed the Governor's education bill some weeks ago. Rather than act upon the House-passed bill, however, the Senate elected to pass the Governor's education bill and sent it to the House. This bill has now been sent to the Senate Finance Committee where it will undergo study.

The House last week passed a bill which would create a professional defense system in the defense of the state. Under present procedure when an indictment is returned in a criminal case it is up to the attorney to represent him. The House created a professional defense system from the local bar to represent the accused in that particular matter. The attorney is paid by the county out of the general fund. The bill as approved by the House would provide for a public defender in each circuit court district to be elected by the people every four years and paid out of state funds. While we have always had court-appointed counsel for indigent defendants in criminal

Letters to the editor

Editor, Sea Coast Echo:

To the people of Waveland. Are you going to let these politicians start with these bond issues. We will be just like Bay St. Louis in the future. We think the little town can stay just on its own. We think they take in now and pray tell us what they would do with more? They could probably go crazy and who could pay the bills—the poor not the ones coming here because they stay about two years and leave, but they want everything and to wind up with nothing. The next thing they would want to do is to take over the railroad tracks at each crossing and a place on the beach to dress and undress with running water. We own two lots in Waveland and don't want to build in fear of high taxes which each one tell us at church. Where will they stop? People, why not let this little town stay AS IS, PEACE.

Think what the big boys in the state are doing to us and these politicians are taking the rest of our pennies.

RFK win would be 2nd upset

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON - If Sen. Bobby Kennedy succeeds in becoming President Johnson's opponent at the Democratic convention in August, it will be the second time such an upset will have occurred not only in the Democratic Party but in our history.

The only other President who has been rejected by the party after first being elected to that office was Franklin D. Roosevelt, who though a candidate was dumped by the Democrats in 1920 in favor of James Buchanan, who was elected the following year and served through the troublesome four years that preceded the Civil War, then retiring to his home in England, Pa.

However, three Vice Presidents who had succeeded to the Presidency through the death of the incumbent have been turned down by the Republicans for terms of their own.

The first was Millard Fillmore, who took office after the death of President Zachary Taylor. Fillmore favored the South on slavery questions and this cost him so much of his support that when the Whigs (Democrats) came the GOP met in 1852, they chose Gen. Winfield Scott as their candidate. Scott, incidentally, was defeated by Democrat Franklin Pierce.

The second non-elected President to be rejected by his party was Andrew Johnson, who served the balance of President Lincoln's second term. He also was largely a casualty of the slavery issue. He opposed the bitter anti-slavery wing of his party that wanted to punish the South severely after the Civil War and did not even try for the Republican nomination in 1868. It went to Gen. Ulysses S. Grant. Johnson did, however, get a few votes in the Democratic convention that year.

The third Republican who moved into the White House on the death of a President but was denied nomination at the next convention was Chester Arthur, who had succeeded President Garfield. Arthur was never a popular President and had been given the Vice Presidency to heal a party breach created by efforts to renominate General Grant for a third term. In the face of the two-term tradition that existed from George Washington's day until Franklin D. Roosevelt broke it in 1933.

The bitter Republican factionalism existed throughout Arthur's term, and it cost him the nomination in 1884. His party also lost the election to Democrat Grover Cleveland.

So what Bobby Kennedy wants to do has been done before, though at times it has been disastrous to the party that did the dumping.

Bobby's big gamble

The Kennedy gamble this time is a high-risk venture not only to the Democrats but to RFK personally. If he gets the nomination, it will split the party so badly that it may mean the election of Richard Nixon. If he fails to get it, his own political future will be seriously damaged. Since he clearly appeared the likely front-runner for the Democratic nomination in 1972, Bobby's risk is even greater. If he loses now, he may never have another chance, especially if Johnson is re-elected as well as renominated.

And defeating Johnson for renomination will not be easy. Bobby is not popular with many Democratic leaders. They don't like the Kennedy ruthlessness; they feel Bobby is too brash; they believe his appeal is primarily to youngsters often below voting age.

But Kennedy is going after votes the same way he did when he was managing the campaign for his late brother—demanding, threatening, dealing. New York leaders, for example, if they don't switch into his camp. The Johnson forces in New York, as well as elsewhere, are poorly organized, so many New York politicians probably will switch.

LBJ is supposed to be a skilled politician, but his lack of an organization is the biggest thing Bobby has going in his favor. Johnson has depended so heavily on his own personal leadership, plus the prestige of the Presidency, that he has felt certain of renomination if he decided to run again. As a result, the Democratic National Committee in Washington is comatose; a once strong party organization throughout the states has withered. So it could be too late for LBJ.

At this early date, however, there is a strong feeling among professional politicians, both Republican and Democratic, that it's too late for Bobby—that all he will do is split the Democrats enough to make it possible if not probable that Nixon will be our next President.

Rocky's withdrawal

Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's final decision to refrain from an active bid for the Republican nomination resulted from three factors:

1. Except in his own state of New York, Rockefeller has always been hesitant about engaging in a tough campaign. Twice before, he has waited too long, using amateurs for advance work, not seasoned politicians. He got bluffed out of the nomination early in 1964 when the Goldwaterites deliberately staged a hostile demonstration when Rocky came to San Francisco. It was put-up job, but the public, and at first Rocky, didn't know it. Nixon, on the other hand, knows all the Old Guard GOP leaders, has been quietly cultivating them for years.

2. As we have reported earlier, the governor has hesitated to put his personal life on the political firing line. No divorced man has ever been elected President. Rockefeller didn't want to be the man to try to break the ice. His romantic adventures have been peanuts compared with those of some other Presidents, but the difference is that they never got a divorce. Rockefeller probably wouldn't have got a divorce either but it not been for the insistence of Dr. James Murphy, the former husband of Happy Rockefeller, who threatened to name the governor of New York as co-respondent.

3. Rockefeller was worried that some of these things would be tossed into the political arena.

Republican advisers urged Rockefeller not to come to the same kind of split in the GOP that Bobby Kennedy is creating in the Democratic ranks. In addition, many Republicans would rather lose with Nixon than win with Rockefeller. His program in New York is almost identical with the Johnson program in Washington. The Old Guard is bitterly against him. Rockefeller was fully aware of this, and it is one of the reasons he bowed out.

Nelson-Rockefeller has always maintained cordial relations with President Johnson. They have even agreed on the Vietnam mission. It's quite possible that he will be drafted for the Secretary of State, Johnson badly needs a liberal Republican to support him in the field of foreign affairs.

Report from capitol

By Rep. Walter Phillips

The flow of bills into both Houses of the Legislature is now becoming a steady stream. Major work being done by many committees in both Houses.

The major action in the House last week consisted of the education package which included both the increase in the sales tax from 3 1/2 per cent to 4 per cent and the elimination of certain exemptions by placing a sales tax on certain items and groups which were tax-exempt. The sales tax elimination exemption from purchases made by electric, power, gas, and telephone companies. The sales tax increase would bring the sales tax increase would bring

In an additional $32 million in new revenue. As indicated, the bill which passed the House would before last, revising the income tax laws of the State of Mississippi, was anticipated to provide $45 million in new money, making a total of $77 million in new money to be raised by the two bills.

The House in an omnibus session last Thursday night, which lasted until 9:30 p.m., also passed the bill which would allow teachers' salaries and other money to the education package. The House version of the law would require approximately $77 million in new money. Therefore, by the House action sent to the Senate a complete education package including the means of financing and paying for the additional $32 million to be added to the State to make good to the people of the state the promises made for an up-grading of the education system.

Due to the fact that both Houses members of the 5th District, Mr. Lonnie Smith and myself, have been writing resolutions by column, and there is much duplication contained therein, we have concluded that the same information could be transmitted to the voters on a weekly basis without duplication if each of us would write a column every week. Therefore, from now on, we will only be a column writer by no every other week, and weeks that I do not write on.

Mr. Lonnie Smith will do so.

Arcemeaux girl notes 8th year

Angelique Arcemeaux celebrated her eighth birthday with a party Saturday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andre Arcemeaux.

Games were played and prizes won by Tracey Steffel, Tina Aime and Mary Sharkey.

Other guests were Joan Dickinson, Amy Hille, Terry Hille, Patricia Payne, Annette Sciana, Lisa di Benedetto, Katrina Kersanac, Patsy Knight, Katharine Ross, Leslie Wolfe, Vivian Hammer, Mary Beth Cox, Janet Prosser, Lyric Ann Heverling and Beddie Sylvester.

I'd been hoping to trade my car in on a newer model, so when I heard all of the radio advertising and read in the Herald and Keesler News ads about the good deals at Gerry Lane Chevrolet, I decided to drive over the bridge to Gerry Lane's where I was met by Herb Baron. My mother and father, who were from Illinois, came along to see that I was treated right.

After demonstrating a number of cars, Herb came up with a Chevrolet SS 383 which I couldn't resist. He arranged all details to my complete satisfaction and I am very happy with my car. I have already recommended Herb Baron and Gerry Lane Chevrolet to a number of my friends.

NOW A&P IS REALLY IN THE SOUP

(SOUP BUSINESS THAT IS)

For years, our Ann Page Division has made great soups... but there were only 3: Tomato, Tomato Rice and Cream of Mushroom.

For some time, we've been working on new varieties.

But you know fussy A&P.

If they are going to be called Ann Page, there can't be better soups... and you can't rush perfection.

It's taken time but it was worth it.

When you taste our 4 new varieties, you'll agree.

And when you see the prices... you'll want to buy them all. You should, because they just might be the best values in the store.

One more thing, all 7 have shiny new green, red and gold labels.

Now that A&P is really in the soup business, shouldn't A&P be your store?

Bowling news

Lots of local bowlers have made arrangements to trek to Gulfport to wind up daytime leagues and a few have managed to work out something to keep them busy on Monday night. However, most of the working group have sort of been left out in the cold as they can't get away from offices and stores, drive across the bridge and reach the alleys on time. Now Myrtle (Mrs. Jimmy McArthur) has been in contact with owners of Gulf Park Lanes and negotiations are underway to begin a night league there around the last of May or first of June. Team captains who are interested may call Myrtle at 467-7612 and let her know what night best suits you and members of your team.

Around town

Our short spring seemed to give the old cold and flu bug a new lease on life. Some who have been ailing include Blair Johnson, Eddie Engelhorn, Eddie Fayard and Gerri Mrs. Jack Kay.

Once again we have a good reason for homemakers to escape the kitchen come Sunday. St. Clare's Home-School Assn. is sponsoring a benefit chicken dinner from noon until 3 p.m. at the Parish Hall for the tiny price of $1 you'll be served chicken, baked beans, cole slaw, etc. Take-out orders will also be available to those who prefer to eat in the comfort of home. Stella Weathersby was walking on air Monday after husband Bob (Major U.S. Marine Corps) called her from Hong Kong describing all of the fabulous gifts

The Brownings

he's bringing home with him when he hits the states.

Joan and Red Glass arrived home Sunday after their ten-day vacation which included visits in Lynchburg, Atlanta and Mobile where Joan and her father, John de Sardon, celebrated birthdays just a day or so apart.

Free puppies

The five beautiful little puppies which Sam Smith rescued from an almost certain demise at Jackson Ridge have been weaned and are now up for grabs. Betty Mrs. Arthur Smith says they are fat, healthy, intelligent and almost miraculously, all are males. They should remain relatively small as the maternal parent is quite diminutive.

What a gadget

Onlookers gasped in amazement as Roy Saux and Glen Young put on a long to be remembered demonstration of the effectiveness of the automobile stabilizer they're now marketing. At a parking area, cordoned off by official cars, was the scene of some of the most hair raising maneuvers which would normally have flipped a large new Impala all over the pavement. We're unable to give much of a description of the action, and it was lively, as we shuddered and hid our eyes each time the vehicle roared toward what appeared to be an inevitable crash, coming safely to a halt on smoking tires. It was really a 'see it to believe it' happening. If you missed the free show, just ask some who didn't. They included Billy Carbonette and George Rayburn, the first passengers, Jay Marsh, Ruth and Fred Curet, Mat and Nellus Rhodes, Betty and Fred Rose, Christine and Dave Burch, VI and Dutch Manleri, Faye (Mrs. Jerry) Lane, Lathon Garriga, David Brooks, Richard Ford, Henry Benjamin, Richard Starnes, Rose and Wiley Cole, Mayor Garfield Ladner, Johnny Wallace, Sammy Perniclaro, and many, many others whom we missed while the eyes were closed.

SIGHTS AND SOUNDS ALONG THE WAY - Bright crimson leaves giving those little trees which are always among the first to fill with foliage, almost artificial appearance, two half-grown kittens playing just like a couple of kids, feinting at one another, positing haunches, then leaping into almost humanistic somersaults as they cavort; two small boys calmly riding along on a large green bicycle built for two and the sound of a shower of the last of autumn's brown leaves as the wind whips them off branches to make room for the current crop.

Father-daughter banquet

With each troop putting on fare from different country, girl scouts, assisted in some small ways by their mothers, treated fathers to dinner last Wednesday at father-daughter banquet at Gulf School cafeteria. Seen here with daughters are from left, Mr. Charles Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Roy, Charles Johnson.

Bond tax status to remain same

County and civic officials breathed a sigh of relief last week when the hearing of the death of a proposed amendment to the local excise tax bill that would eliminate the exempt status of industrial bonds.

Charles H. Russell, Jr., Long of Louisiana, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said the bill would not affect the exempt status of industrial bonds.

Official wording of the measure, which was approved by the committee, approved an amendment regarding administrative actions of the Treasury Department regarding tax treatment of interest on industrial bonds issued by state or local governmental units.

This amendment, in effect, assures continued exemption for the interest on these bonds until Congress provides

8th Coast Guard

District bridge authority changes

Deputy District Engineer and Assistant District Engineer bridges crossed within the boundaries of the New Orleans District of Corps of Engineers are now the functions of the Department of Transportation, U. S. Coast Guard.

Transfer of responsibility and authority was provided for in Public Law 89-670, approved Oct. 15, 1966, creating the department of transportation.

In announcing the transfer of activities, Col. Thomas J. Bowen, district engineer, said that all correspondence and inquiries pertaining to existing bridges, plans for proposed bridges, complaints against violations of bridge regulations, malfunctioning of drawbridges, marine collisions with bridges and temporary closures of drawspans should be directed to the Commander, 8th Coast Guard District, Customhouse, New Orleans, La. 70130. Such correspondence should be addressed for the attention of E. D. Sylvest.

We had heard all about the friendly personnel, excellent deals and service after the sale at Garry Lane Chevrolet through radio commercials, and decided to find out for ourselves if this was true. We drove to Bay St. Louis from Biloxi and left completely satisfied with our new Chevrolet station wagon and the deal arranged for us by our salesman, Herb Baron.

cases, the United States Supreme Court now requires counsel to be provided in all cases where the defendant is charged with a crime for which he might be imprisoned for any length of time. This has worked a hardship on the court system, making it difficult and expensive to obtain counsel to provide adequate representation for the accused. The lack of such counsel has caused the Supreme Court to reverse many convictions rendered in the lower court simply because certain procedures were not followed and the otherwise guilty defendant was not given his full rights believed by the high Court to be guaranteed by the Constitution. The public defender system as proposed in this bill would seek to remedy this situation and avoid unnecessary and delayed appeals of cases because lawyers from out of the state take upon themselves the task of correcting the system of justice which they feel is so wrong in Mississippi. The public defender would be in a position to spend more time and effort in assuring the indigent defendant proper representation before the Court. For these reasons I trust that we can secure final passage of this proposed legislation.

Touchdown

Whites win SSC's intra-squad game

Max Gianelloni and F. Brown switched sides shortly before commencement of the Red and White intra-squad football game last Thursday at St. Stanislaus College.

The move was caused by injuries but it helped strike the fatal blow to the Red squad's ambitions.

Joe Pugh quarterbacked the winners and Mike Gomelli went across the goal line for the game's only score and this in the first half. Final outcome, 9-0 for Whites.

The Reds came back hard in the second half and took the ball.

Anthony's men pass best in Pass

The Anthony's Men's Wear team of Bay St. Louis brought home another trophy last week when they won championship honors in the second annual Pass Christian Invitational basketball tournament in the Pass Christian High School gymnasium.

Prepared's R. No. 2-Basket Club also entered the tournament but were eliminated in the consolation by the Gulfport Independent.

In the Anthony game, the local squad scored 29 points in the last eight minutes to overcome the Gulfport Independent 78-60 for the men's title.

McComb Wolding earned the Hi-Nation of Pass Christian to win the ladies crown.

Berlin Lodner of the Anthony group was named 'man's most valuable player.'

Local players named to the all-tournament team were, Lodner, Pat Kirland and Marcello Stockstill of the Mississippi Tool Facility All Stars; men, John Vichera and Tommy Randall, Trapani's; Larry Johnson and Eddie Peterson of Anthony.

In the final game itself, Anthony trailed 16-8 at the end of the first quarter, scored 18 to 14 in the second, 23 to 18 in the third and 10 to 00 in the fourth.

High scorers for winners were Larry Johnson with 18; Eddie Peterson, 8; Berlin Lodner, 10; Bruce Thornberry, 20.

City advises group act on street

Two more approaches to Bay St. Louis's streets to be explored by Citizens Advisory Committee again last night at City Hall. The committee will furnish the administration with additional information about a $400,000 program.

At its first session since the defeat of the $99 million plan, the committee last night indicated its preference for funding the project on a combination of front-endage and bond.

Joseph L. Marochino, committee chairman, said there about as many opinions as there were individuals present but they were unanimous in agreeing that the project had to be done to fix the street.

The other avenue was a cost assessment with a minimum of $2.75 a foot with the project up its share through bond issues. Discussion of method was basically along lines of the $975,000 job placed for 25-year streets.

City's share was roughly estimated at $200,000, Marochino said, and the property owners would be charged $2.75 a foot payable over 10 years.

They figured a $200,000 would take 8.5 million. On a 100-foot street, this would equal $275 a foot at the maximum.

This would cost more than the old plan but would pay 10 years instead of 20 years, Marochino noted. The $975,000 plan, rejected twice by voters, was calculated at the average city project of $15 annually for 25 years.

After getting the committee's concerns on the loan and bond, City Hall asked for details on how it might be done.
